Arrival details

by plane

Maybe the most practical way to reach Dubrovnik is to travel by plane. The Dubrovnik airport is 23 km away from ACI Marina Dubrovnik. There are daily flights from Zagreb with Croatia Airlines, and weekly flights from several other European cities. To reach our base in marina, you can use transfer or taxi.

by boat

The port of Gruž, the main port in Dubrovnik, is connected with all major Croatian ports as Rijeka and Split. The largest Croatian company is Jadrolinija which has line from Rijeka via Zadar to Split, Hvar and then Dubrovnik. There are also regular ferry lines to Ancona, Pescara and Bari in Italy if you want to cross over from Italy to Dubrovnik.

by car / bus

For all of those who are traveling by car to Dubrovnik from the direction of Zagreb the safest and the fastest way is the highway. There's only 3,5 hours highway drive from Zagreb to Split (A1 Zagreb-Split highway) and than around 3,5 hours, depending on the traffic, from Split to Dubrovnik driving the non-motorway "Adriatic magistral" road. If you chose to take the old road from Zagreb to Dubrovnik, it'll take you 9,5 hours from Zagreb to Dubrovnik – for those who would want to sight see Croatia. In that way it'll be wiser to avoid Split, so, be shure that after city Sinj you turn left towards Trilj and than after Trilj turn right towards Cista Provo after which you'll have to turn again right towards Šestanovac. Finally you'll exit on "Adriatic magistral" road, just after Gornja Brela, which will take you to Dubrovnik. If you're coming from Rijeka direction, the best way is to drive along the coastline; "Adriatic magistral" road and then get on a highway for Split and follow directions described above.

Maybe the cheapest way to approach Dubrovnik is to travel by bus. Numerous bus lines that lead to Dubrovnik from every larger city in Croatia operate more than several times a day. Croatia has a well developed national transport network of bus lines that reaches even the smallest of villages on the coast. Regular international bus lines connect Croatia to Austria, Italy, Hungary, France, Germany, Slovakia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, and other countries.

from an old town of Dubrovnik to ACI Marina in Komolac

Now, you are in Dubrovnik and want to go to ACI Marina. If you want to go by bus, you should get on the bus numbers 1A or 1B and get off on a bus stop in Komolac (just after the INA gas pump). If going by car, follow the signs for Gruz Harbour and then, after going under the bridge go left on the first crossing. After that just go straight ahead until you are in Komolac. The first road that goes on left is the entrance to the ACI Marina Dubrovnik.

About Dubrovnik

Dubrovnik is one of the most beautiful cities on the Croatian coast. In the Middle Ages the Republic of Dubrovnik was an important rival of Venice. Many buildings in the Old city center testify of this glorious past and to its Venetian influence. The walls of Dubrovnik girdle a perfectly preserved complex of public and private, sacral and secular buildings representing all periods of the city's history, beginning with its founding in the 7th century. Particular mention should be made of the city's main street, Stradun, the Rector's Palace, the church of St Vlaho, the Cathedral, three large monasteries, the Custom's Office and the City Hall. The Republic of Dubrovnik was the centre of a separate political and territorial entity, and was proud of its culture, its achievements in commerce and especially of its freedom, preserved down so many tempestuous centuries. Today, Dubrovnik is also a very lively city, with many things to do. The coast nearby offers all sorts of activities and the town has many restaurants, bars and nightclubs.
